

Trempealeau County - Barn Preservation Tour
Saturday, September 10
10:00 AM - 4:00 PM
Family Farms Market
50684 N Main St, Eleva, WI 54738

The Family Farms Market is an excellent example of adaptive reuse and one of the best ways to preserve and protect the icons of Wisconsin.

This former feed mill is now open year-round as retail store, restaurant and banquet hall, and the corporate offices for a wholesale meat and food distribution company.

The Trempealeau County Barn Preservation Tour is a cooperative effort by:

Wisconsin's agricultural communities include many barns and other buildings with unique and interesting architectural details that make up an important part of our cultural, historical and aesthetic experience.

We are losing many of these barns and other buildings every year, so it is essential to identify and catalog what remains, and assist owners preserve and protect these unique Wisconsin icons.

Participants listen to the host explain the history of his barn

Join us at the Family Farms Market barn for presentations by Charley Weeth of Citizens for a Scenic Wisconsin and Nancy-Schumm-Burgess, author of the pictorial Wisconsin Barns book. We'll cover the history of barns in Wisconsin, touch on the architectural elements of the various barns and the trends for barn preservation the future.

Afterwards, we'll enjoy a box lunch on the school bus as we tour select barns in scenic northern Trempealeau County. On the tour, we'll discuss various ways the owners have done their part to keep these buildings alive and part of our scenic Wisconsin, and how we can help.

Registration: $45 per person

(includes beverages, box lunch & bus tour)

Space is limited! Please reply by August 27!

Remember! We are the guests of our hosts and participants are responsible for their own behavior and must follow all host directions.

Please dress appropriate for the weather and to visit working farms!

Tour is rain or shine!

We will also tour the Schultz Country Barn in Eleva, which is another fine example of adaptive reuse of these wonderful buildings.

The barn was built in 1914 by JD Cooper and was bought and sold by others before being purchased by Elmer Schultz in 1947. He milked cows in the barn for close to 50 years while he and his wife Leanna raised 7 children.

The bus tour starts and ends in Eleva
